

Are you ready to approach an automation solutions provider?

This checklist will help you decide if your business is ready to approach an automation supplier.

- 1 With your current production methods, are you unable to satisfy customer demand for your product(s)? Yes No
- 2 Do you experience unacceptably high reject rates? Yes No
- 3 Do you struggle with persistent waste? Yes No
- 4 Are you experiencing issues in one or more of these areas:
 - Work in process levels
 - Product contamination
 - Performance consistency from one operator to the next
 - Product quality
 - Floor space overcrowding and limited expansion capability
 - Manufacturing location Yes No
- 5 Do you have a proliferation of product variants that are adding complexity and strain to your production schedule? Yes No
- 6 Do you have high labour costs considering number of employees, wages, training, recruiting, and absenteeism? Yes No
- 7 Are continuous improvement initiatives insufficient to achieve your annual product cost targets? Yes No
- 8 Does your product have rigorous cleanliness requirements that would be compromised with manual manufacturing methods? Yes No

If you answered "Yes" to three or more questions, it's time to consider approaching an automation solutions provider. Get in touch with us for a free consultation on your next project.
